What Makes Cisco's Learning Partner Program Unique?

Evolving for over 15 years, the Cisco Learning Partner Program is recognized as one of the most successful in the industry. With Cisco Learning Partners present in over 130 countries worldwide, the program has established an ecosystem of training partners who offer Cisco's customers top quality instruction on products and solutions that support Cisco's global marketplace success. The Learning Partner Program recognizes Cisco's Learning Partners based on their areas of expertise, and are segmented into three partner levels:

Cisco Learning Partner, is the entry-level Learning Partner concentrating their focus on delivering Cisco career certification training. There are over 350 Learning Partner Associates worldwide.

Cisco Specialized Learning Partner, is the highest level that Cisco has established to offer Authorized Training. This level is for Learning Partners who become specialized in Cisco's Architectural technology framework (collaboration, borderless networks and/or data center). This enables Cisco customers and partners to successfully understand, design, implement and support Cisco's high end solutions, technologies and architectures.

Business Learning Partner (BLP), is an extension of Cisco's Learning Partner Program which authorizes the Learning Partner to deliver training associated to the "Business Relevancy of Cisco's Technology" concentraing on relevant soft skills.
